During uncertain times, life can feel completely disrupted. Things seem confused and sense of time may be lost. You may feel vulnerable and helpless. Sleep patterns may be disrupted, and you may feel tired all the time. Emotional “numbness” may continue as a means of coping with what is happening.

As the impact of COVID-19 continues, you may feel overwhelmed, angry and not know where to find help. Recognizing these emotions and reactions helps you to better understand your experience and deal with them.

Your emotional response to COVID-19 is normal, but if symptoms worsen, you may need the help of a professional to assist you in the process. DCHD offers residents many services, including:

- Crisis Services. If you are experiencing a crisis, call (630) 627-1700, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, or visit <https://www.dupagehealth.org/183/Crisis-Services>.
- Behavioral Health Services. A wide range of services are available for DuPage County residents who are experiencing symptoms related to mental health or substance use, which may be impacting your daily life. Treatment programs are offered at our public health centers in Wheaton, Addison, Westmont and Lombard.

Visit <https://www.dupagehealth.org/172/Behavioral-Health> or call (630) 682-7400 to learn more about these DCHD services.

Help is also available from other sources, including:

- The Illinois Helpline for Opioids and Other Substances. If someone you know is suffering from an opioid use disorder or other substance use disorders, call the Illinois Helpline for Opioids and Other Substances at 1-833-2FINDHELP to speak with a trained professional for support and advice or to be directed to customized resources or visit HelplineIL.org.
